

THE ARCHITECT OF YOUR HAUORA

YEAR 9 HEALTH & PHYSICAL EDUCATION

What does it actually mean to be healthy?

It is not just about what you eat or how fast you run.

The Vocabulary of a Good Life

Task 1: Define these in your own words, draw an image, and give a real-world example

Te Whare Tapa Whā

Developed by Sir Mason Durie, this model compares our well-being to a wharenuī (meeting house).

Four strong, load-bearing walls are required to keep the house standing straight and true.

The Four Load-Bearing Walls

Taha Tinana Physical

How your body grows, feels, and moves. (e.g., PE, sleep, the food you eat)

Taha Hinengaro / Mental & Emotional

How you think, feel, and communicate. (e.g., stress, learning new things, self-talk)

Taha Whānau / Family & Social

Who you belong with and care for. (e.g., friendships, family, teammates)

Taha Wairua Spiritual

Your values, beliefs, and sense of purpose. (e.g., your identity, connection to nature, self-worth)

If One Wall Shakes, The Whole House Feels It

The four dimensions do not exist on their own.
An impact on one wall always sends shockwaves to the others.

The Tools for the Job

This term requires both physical action and mental reflection.
You must come prepared for both.

✓ Pen

✓ PE Uniform

✓ Chromebook

✓ Positive Attitude

Theory + Practical = One Hauora

The Assessment Staircase

The diagram illustrates 'The Assessment Staircase' as a progression of four levels. The staircase is depicted with a wooden handrail and ornate blue metal balusters. The steps are colored green, blue, and orange, with the top step glowing with a bright orange and yellow light. The staircase is set against a background of a grid and faint, swirling lines. The levels are labeled as follows: Basement (No Evidence - NE), Step 1 (Emerging - EM), Step 2 (Effective - EF), and Step 3 (Exemplary - EX).

Basement (No Evidence - NE):
Did not engage, or plagiarized work.
Contact home will be made.
Don't stay in the basement.

Step 1 (Emerging - EM):
Show up prepared. Engage well.
Identify what impacts your hauora.

Step 2 (Effective - EF):
Identify + Describe how it impacts
you, using clear examples.

Step 3 (Exemplary - EX):
Identify + Describe + Evaluate
by setting future goals.

The Reflection Loop

Looking Forward

To reach the top grade (Exemplary), you must become a true architect and ask: What next?

To have even better outcomes next lesson on my hauora, I will need to...

The Living Wharenui

Dealing with Clunks

Every builder runs into problems. If you hit a word or concept you don't understand, do not ignore it.

Write the word in your Clunks log and track down the definition.

Let's Get Building

Task 1: Define the core vocabulary (Well-being, Hauora, Healthy).

Task 2: Fill the empty Te Whare Tapa Whā model with 5 examples per dimension and colour it in.

Task 3: Identify the specific things that impact your personal four dimensions.

This work must be completed to a high standard and be completely your own.

You Are The Architect

Your daily choices shape the walls of your wharenui.
Let's build a strong foundation.
